Each student at Clifton Forge High School comes seeking something. For some who seek, happiness is found. Others find school to be rewarding by obtaining acknowledgement for work well done or personal satisfaction in that work. Some find their goals cannot be reached in high school or the extra-curricular functions at Clifton Forge High. Every student knows that each day brings a new challenge, another trial, or an attainment. This story is told by use of pictures and words in the following pages. Color CFHS--happy, rewarding, challenging, and enlightening!

The academic part of the school is the most important part because often the students futures are determined by it. Color it—informative, earnest, challenging, and helpful!

ACADEMICS

Math and Science:

Tom Dean labors over a problem in trigonometry class.

Mr. Graham instructs students on how to use a binary counter.

In this age of rockets and missiles, mathematicians must calculate things to the split second. Under the supervision of Mrs. Perkins, Mr. Wolfenbarger, Mr. McLean, and Mr. Graham, CFHS is preparing the young people of today for the work of tomorrow.

Modern math, Algebra I and II, stressing graphs and linear equations, co-ordinate geometry with its proofs, and advanced algebra, featuring the study of angles, supply students with a firm foundation for higher learning.

Mrs. Perkins checks notebooks in her solid geometry class.

Solving The Unknown

Mr. Perry points out an important part of a film strip in biology class.
BELOW: The functions of a dry cell are explained by Mr. Stine to one of his Science 8 students.

With the idea that there might be future scientists among the students, the science department of CFHS strives to give each student the basic knowledge that is needed. In classes such as physics, chemistry, and biology, the students learned to explore and reason for themselves. In this way they gained a deeper interest and knowledge in the scientific world of tomorrow.

Miss Earnest attempts an experiment in her Science 9 class.

Languages and Social Studies

Mr. Alvarez looks on as David Warren completes an assignment in the Spanish I class.

A junior English class takes notes as Miss VanHorn lectures on grammar rules.

The students in Mrs. Anderson's ninth grade English class listen to an oral book report.

Because of increasing world relations, languages are becoming an important part of high-school curriculums across the land. CFHS offers two years of Spanish and Latin, and requires five years of English grammar and literature.

Stressing composition, the English department feels that it is important for the future citizen to be able to express himself in the growing world. Literature students determine the thought of the author and learn to read intuitively.

Although Latin is sometimes called the "dead language", it is the basis for many others. Verb declensions, Roman history, vocabulary, and translations round out the Latin student's study.

Through the language lab, and Senor Alvarez, the Spanish student learns the pronunciation of Spanish vocabulary. In Spanish, the students also have verb declensions, history, translations, and also learn the customs of the people nearest our southern border.

Benefit CFHS Students

With the use of books and maps, Mrs. Kessinger and her World History class discuss the Viet Nam situation.

The when's, where's, and why's of world affairs were discussed in the social studies classes. Outside reading was required, current events were studied, and term papers were assigned to history students. Among the main subjects discussed by the social studies classes were the war in Viet Nam. By looking into the past, similar problems were found; and possible solutions were discussed.

The past can be a guidebook to the future, and with this thought in mind, the social studies students learned of the past and the present in order to improve the future.

Mr. Sidney Smith gives a look of approval as he checks a students homework paper in civics class.

CFHS Students Prepare

Commercial Department Prepares the Business-bound Students

Bookkeeping, shorthand, office practice, and general business offer commercial students an excellent opportunity for advancement and knowledge in today's business world. Miss Dreama Flint and Mrs. Jean Clift lightened a path to better business as busy fingers paved the way.

The recording of business transaction in bookkeeping class not only helps the business but also these journals help in the home. Many other such "tid bits" help the CFHS commercial student to further his advancement in a business career and prepare him for the business world.

Carolyn Nunley works to improve her speed in typing.

General Business students listen as Miss Flint lectures on stocks and bonds.

Typing I students look for errors after a timed writing, which helps to determine their six week's grades.

For The Future

Richard Watts, Gemmer Hall, and Paul Haynes discuss an assignment in mechanical drawing class.

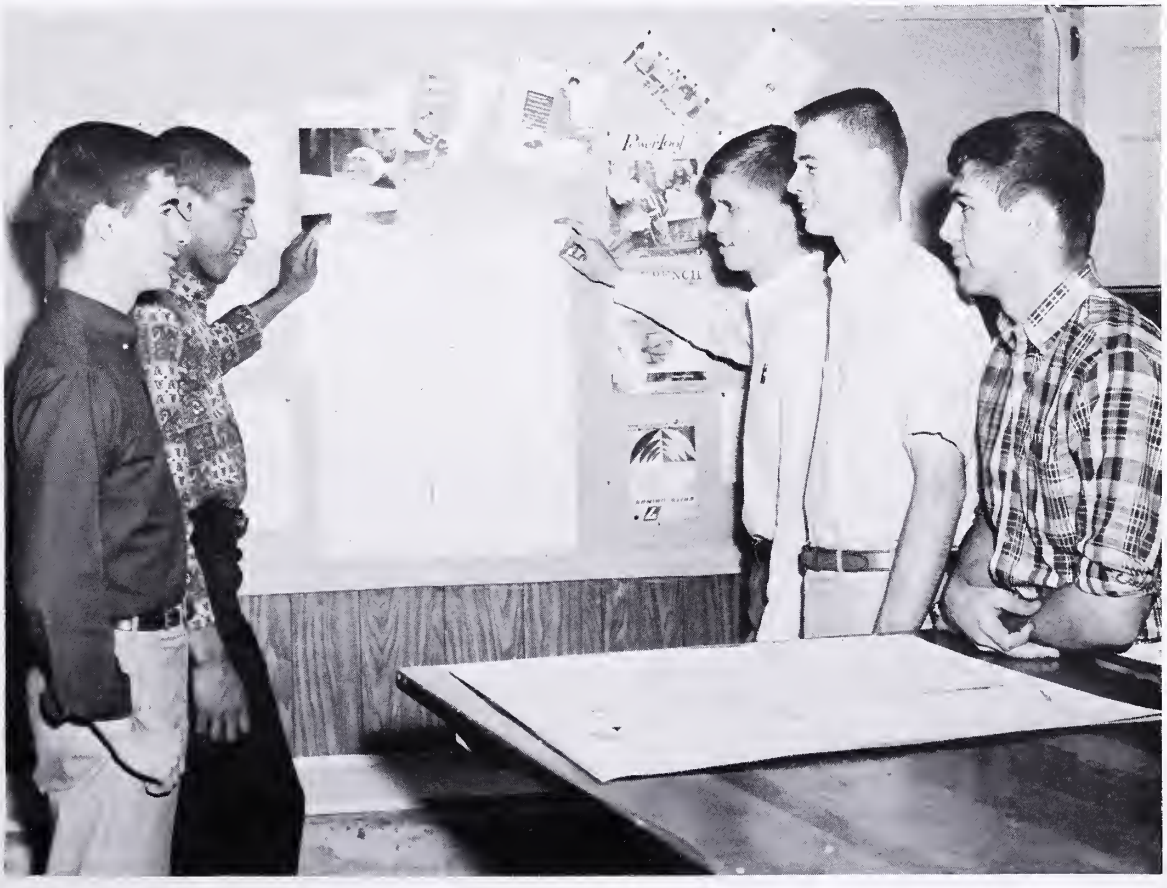

Vocational Department Teaches Students To Use Their Hands

Vocations play an important part of the CFHS curriculum. Many students prepare for their future through vocational subjects. Realizing today's student will be tomorrow's bread-winner or homemaker, CFHS strives for advancement in this area.

Shop is offered to boys interested in carpentry work, especially wood and plastics. Mr. Richard Trimble and Mr. James McLean are the head "do it yourselfers."

To the girls, home economics is offered. This is a preparatory for general work in the home. Home economics is not only cooking and sewing, but also is actual basics such as, how to budget household expenses, and menu planning. Mrs. Colin Ferguson headed the Home Economics Department being "chief cook and bottle washer."

Students study a plan for wiring a house in industrial arts class.

Art Progresses In Second Year At CFHS

Kenny Huffman puts the finishing touches on his masterpiece in Art I class.

The CFHS art students, under the direction of Mr. Smith, called upon their creativity and ingenuity while working in fields ranging from sketching to elementary sculpturing. In addition to decorating the bulletin boards, the art department presented the student body with an exhibit of cut paper designs, displayed in the cafeteria.

In February they put forth their efforts in a small scale art show for the P.T.A. A larger art exhibit was presented in May.

To further their study of art the CFHS art department exchanged ideas and exhibits with area schools of Virginia and West Virginia.

Physical Education Required Three Years

Coach Barbrow aids in instructing a boy's physical educational class in baseball.

His classmates watch as Terry Hall climbs a rope in class.

We at CFHS realize that not only should we have academic goals, but also should maintain physical fitness. The gym classes have varied instruction in many phases of the physical education program. Physical fitness tests are given in the fall and spring. Many team sports are taught such as volleyball, hockey, basketball, and softball. During the winter months, tumbling and gymnastics are the main items on the agenda. Many stunts and exercises are learned on the gymnastics equipment. The P. E. department bought additional equipment including the balance beam, mini tramps, and mats.

In addition to sound body, sound mind is also stressed. Classroom instruction is given in first aid and health. All in all, by keeping mentally and physically prepared, CFHS students present themselves to the future as tomorrow's leaders.

"Helpers" are used in gymnastics until a feeling of balance is achieved.

Music Echoes In

The 1966-'67 Clifton Forge High School Marching Mountaineer Band.

"Band! 'ten hut!" The marching Mounties snapped to attention under the direction of Ronald Keilholtz early in August and worked hard all year long to achieve a new look and sound.

Halftime shows at the football games ranged from a simple company front to a spectacular homecoming performance of a darkened field and several figures outlined in green and gold lights. The new sound consisted of marches such as "Orange Bowl" or the blues sound of "Wonderland by Night", plus everything in between.

The band presented a Christmas concert jointly with the chorus and its annual spring concert in May.

The Beta Clubbers on their trip – at work?

at play?

"Oak Ridge, Tennessee! On the school bus?" If you were a member of the Clifton Forge Beta Club, this might have been your reaction when plans for a tour of the Atomic laboratories at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, were announced. The Betas left Clifton Forge at 5 a.m. on February 23 and returned the afternoon of the 25. The days in between were filled with tours, concerts, movies, and a lot of bus riding.

Equally important, but somewhat less spectacular, were the monthly meetings of the club. The programs included guest speakers and film strips.

Tri-Hi-Y Clubs Collect

CFHS is proud to say that the Tri-Hi-Y is one of the "busiest clubs around". The Tri-Hi-Y benefits the surrounding community by participating in many fund raising drives such as the March of Dimes, Heart Fund, and the Red Cross. In December, the annual Christmas assembly was presented by the members and enjoyed by both students and faculty. In April, Susan Mason and Donna Johnson represented the CFHS Tri-Hi-Y at Model General Assembly which is held annually in Richmond, Va. District meetings are always attended by several members. By promoting high standards of Christian character, this club will continue to carry out excellent projects which benefit all.

One of the most active clubs at CFHS was the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y. This year under the leadership of Cindy Stinnett the club has participated in many civic projects. These have included the Heart Fund and the Retarded Children's Fund. Again this year as in past years at CFHS the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y has distributed thoughts for the week in every classroom and decorated the bulletin boards in the halls.

In November, some of the members of the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y attended a convention held in Harrisonburg and again in July, the newly installed officers attended one at Massanetta.

The Student Cooperative Association, better known as the SCA, has participated in many activities this year. Composed of club officers and homeroom representatives from each class, the SCA acts as a step between faculty and students in academic and extra-curricular school functions.

Under the helpful guidance of Mr. C. P. Ferguson and Mr. S. B. Wolfenbarger, the SCA sponsored the annual Homecoming Parade. The club was in charge of a magazine sales campaign in which students were awarded prizes for the number of magazines they sold. Again this year the SCA held a "Turkey Hop" in November with the dress for the evening Sadie Hawkins' style. Color the SCA active!

Hi-Y Has Christmas Dance

Being active can't be the motto of every club, but it could be applied to the boys in the Hi-Y. Like its sister clubs, the Tri-Hi-Y and Jr. Tri-Hi-Y, the Hi-Y strives for the high standards of Christian character. Many of the boys went on the local March of Dimes drive. At Christmas, the boys presented the annual Christmas dance. Through the sponsorship of this club, the school had the annual Thanksgiving assembly. In April, several members attended the Model General Assembly held in Richmond, Va. Also, many of the boys have participated in school projects which prove beneficial to all.

Key Club Collects for Heart Fund

THIRD: Larry Glover, Carl Fury, Lenford Hatcher, Chip Wood, Hinky Persinger, George Helmintoller, George Goode, John Grimes, Leo Davis.

This year the Key Club was very active. Their theme was a mixture of helpfulness and having fun.

As in years before, they had many activities. The club collected for the Heart Fund. They attended joint meetings with other area schools. The Key Club also formed a basketball team and played area teams.

This year several boys attended the Key Club convention. The boys also attended the Kiwanis Men's Luncheon each week.

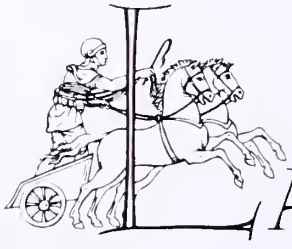

In 1967 the Key Club of CFHS was quite active in all areas of school life.

Striving to create a book that would bring back for the students the pleasant memories of the 1966-67 school year, the CFHS ALLEGHANIAN staff worked long and hard. Organizers of the work were Betsy Easter, Editor, and Jan Fliess, Ass't Editor.

The staff was represented at the S.I.P.A. convention in Lexington, Virginia, by Donna Scruggs and Jan Fliess. The 1965-66 yearbook brought home an honor rating.

While promoting good sportsmanship in school activities, the CFHS Varsity Club gave recognition to all boys who have received letters by excelling in any varsity high school sport.

The members helped out at basketball games by collecting tickets and keeping the floor clean from paper and spilled drinks during the games at home.

Under the direction of Mr. Craig Barbrow, head Football coach, the club achieved its goal of good sportsmanship and an interest in sports in the school.

The Library Club may be one of the smallest clubs, but it is certainly one of the most appreciated. Members of this club aid Mrs. Morris in her many duties as CFHS librarian. Usually these people are behind the check-out desk, but they're always there when you just can't seem to find the 900's. We at CFHS realize the importance of this small club doing a big service.

Preparing for the future is one way of describing the C.F.H.S. F.H.A. Many of the "future homemakers" attended the various federation meetings which were held at schools throughout this area. The F.H.A. sponsored and decorated one of the floats in the homecoming parade. One of the various projects enjoyed by the girls was floral arrangement. Perhaps the most enjoyable gift to the students by the F.H.A. was the annual Sweetheart Dance. Color the F.H.A. prepared.

How can you tell an industrial arts club member from everyone else at CFHS? Easy! Just look for a boy with a hammer hard at work fixing broken equipment, a doorknob, or just about anything around school.

The Industrial Arts Club and its sponsor, Mr. Richard Trimble, isn't just the school's "handyman"; it's CFHS's most productive club. The members displayed their projects in an industrial arts fair in May.

"We can do it" was the motto of the 1966 football team, bringing home more honors than any team has for many years. Besides the coveted Little Brown Jug, they were 10-0, undefeated for the first time in 32 years.

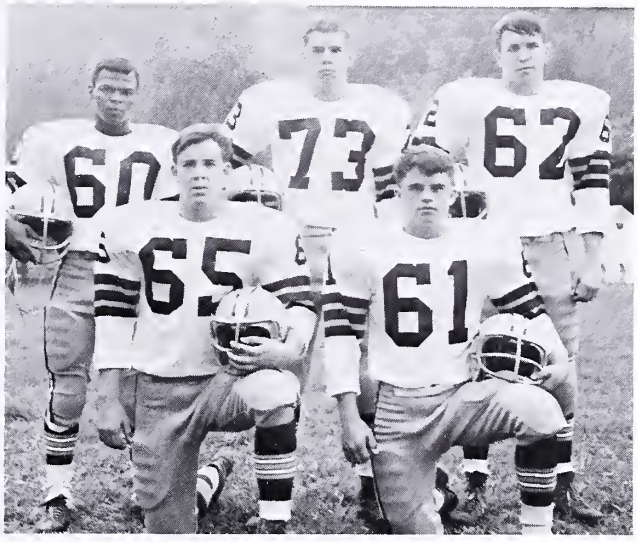

A squad of 33 boys began early in August and had two scrimmages under their belts when they defeated Buffalo Gap for the first game of regular season play. After a VSDB forfeit, the Mounties struck again as Group IB Hearndon went under 30-0. The following week the Mounties beat Wilson and continued "rolling" as they beat Alleghany on Sept. 18. After an "off" game with Ft. Defiance, the Mounties turned in a good game against Riverheads. In the Buena Vista game, the Mounties displayed their ability to come from behind. Pausing just long enough to secure the District V championship in the James River game, the Mountaineers rolled into Covington under a full head of steam on Nov. 6, confident of a victory. After a 12-0 halftime deficit, the mounties came back to prove themselves with a 32-12 win for the Little Brown Jug.

Jayvees Break Even

In the afternoon game against Buena Vista, a green and gold Jayvee intercepts a pass.

A Buena Vista player is met head-on as he is thrown for a loss.

The CFHS Jr. Varsity football team compiled an even 4-4 record this year. The J.V.'s started their schedule with an easy 27-14 win over the James River Knights. In the second game of the year, they were not as fortunate. Covington completely dominated the game in a 44-0 win. In the last six games, Clifton won half the games. The Jayvee's coach was George Sherman.

District V Championship

Tom Dean tries for 2 points in a game against the Hornets.

Some people forget that it takes five "giants" to make a good basketball team instead of one. Yes, round ball at CFHS was supposed to be lacking when compared to "past" years. The 1966-67 ve of the CFHS Cagers didn't have a record or waltz home with the championship, but they made an adn stand in defense of their proud rec title.

The only district loss for the M was a fiery fight with the Biso Buffalo Gap. As the buzzer soun Mounties found themselves on t end of 69-68 score. The season and the Cougars were "tamed an right in "Cougar land." Arch leghany was soundly sent back up and the "bungling Bisons got a of green and gold revenge. C breezing along until the "Coug wind" met the Mounties and bag by a four-point margin. Mounti never stopped turning and finally ular Season Title was theirs.

When the Green and Gold Lexington, everyone knew that Clifton Forge was out to defend the Group II State Championship. After two nights of hard-fought basketball, the Green and Gold won their fourth District Five Championship. Individual honors were placed on Norman Thomas, Wayne Humphries, and Tom Dean as they received first team All-District honors. As the CFHS fans left Lexington, it was "on to Blacksburg".

It seemed that the Regionals were a little more than the Mounties could handle. Thomas Walker, "past defeated foe" got sweet revenge and put the Mounties down. CFHS left Blacksburg downhearted but nothing to be ashamed of. Color them proud.

"Gosh, ref, are ya sure 'bout that? Susan . . . R-O-V-E! Miss Watts, she did it again!" These were the colorful sounds of the Mountainettes during 66-67. Although past records of undefeated teams were not equaled, Coach Watts and her young sextet reeled off a 5-3 season.

The "one to cry about" was the loss from the Valley Queen Bees who eeked out a 41-40 victory in a hotly contested first seasonal game. The girls' other two defeats were from the Queen Bees, and a veteran squad from James River.

The Mountainettes averaged about 41 points per game with Carole Deaton pouring in about 18.8 points per contest. In April, the Quarterback Club presented two awards to members of the team. Miss Carole Deaton received the Most Valuable Player award, and Miss Donna Scruggs received the best All-Round Player award.

Under the coaching of Miss Alma Watts the JV Mountainettes tied their 2 & 2 record of last season. The two losses came from the hands of the Valley and James River JV's.

Of the starting six the forwards were Linda Hughes, Freida Clark, and Sally Scruggs. The Guards were Sharon Hughson, Rhona Spinner, and Gayle Deaton.

"Cowabunga!" he says as he noses out one of Clifton's "key" runners, William Key.

The CFHS track team under the coaching of Roy Putnam improved this season. The boys placed first in a tri-meet with Alleghany and Lord Botetourt, and placed in the District 5 Track Meet. Coach Putnam stated that he was very satisfied with the performance of the team.

Baseball Team

With eleven wins and six losses the Clifton Forge High School baseball team finished the 1967 season. Although they did not gain the District V championship title, the Mounties posted many victories over non-conference foes.

Under the coaching of Mr. Craig Barbrow the Mounties won two games from the Covington Cougars; and for the first time in four years, they beat their arch-

With the return of many players, Clifton Forge High School looks forward to another year in baseball next season.

Cheerleaders Win Trophy

The cheerleaders give a "victory cheer" at the Little Brown Jug assembly.

Go for a touchdown!

Being a cheerleader is like playing football, basketball, baseball, and track all at the same time. The girls practice all summer long and attend cheerleading camp, where they compete against squads from all over the state of Virginia.

Happiness and tears of joy prevail after winning the District 5 cheerleading trophy.

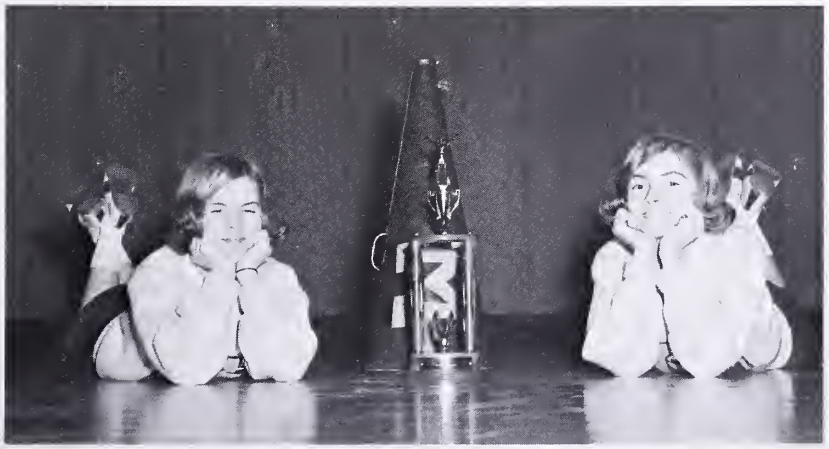

Clifton's team with . . . ready men!

By the time school starts in September, the girls know all the cheers but still practice every day after school to stay in shape for pep rallies and games. All this hard work paid off for the '66-'67 squad when they were awarded the trophy at the District 5 basketball tournaments for the best cheerleaders in the district.

In April the squad attended a cheerleading clinic at Patrick Henre High School in Roanoke, Virginia. They were instructed in two new yells and techniques by Mr. Bob Shields.

C. F. H. S. had every reason to be proud of its '67 J.V. basketball team. Under the coaching of Mr. Bob Stine, the J.V.'s posted a 15-4 season. Their losses came after hard fought games with Covington, Wilson Memorial, and twice with Lord Botetourt.

The J.V.'s were real crowd-pleasers and attracted a large following. Among their more exciting games was their one-point win over Alleghany coming with a 2-footer by John Reynolds at the buzzer. They also captured a double overtime victory over the Buffalo Gap Team.

Urging the junior varsity football and basketball players on to victory, the CFHS junior varsity cheerleaders displayed the talent they had achieved by determination and practice.

In the summer several of the girls attended the National Cheerleading Association camp at Virginia Beach, where they were in competition with other cheerleaders from Virginia.

While having a successful year themselves, the J.V. cheerleaders promised successful years to come for the cheerleading squads of CFHS.

Another successful year for the annual Homecoming festivities at CFHS? On Oct. 7, the colorful parade began the night's activities. The Freshman class float took top honors with the theme "Mounties' Victory Formula." The eighth grade won second place, and the Future Homemakers won third.

The seniors at CFHS set an example for the younger students as they take part in many activities. Color them —happy, exemplified, lively, and imaginative!

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

Class of '67 Presents

Annie takes careful aim in the shooting match as Frank, Buffalo Bill, and a crowd of enthusiastic people look on.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ellen Griggs, the class of '67 presented the three act comedy, "Annie Get Your Gun," from the original version produced on Broadway by Rodgers and Hammerstein. Annie Oakley, played by Susan Shipp, is a very determined girl who wants to "win over" Frank Butler, played by Griff Peters.

Buffalo Bill alias Mike Cunningham finds and employs Annie's talents as "Little Sure-Shot." Annie finds that she will be torn between the overshadowing of the famous marxman Frank Butler or her love for him.

Annie got her gun, and also got her man. With such a presentation, the class of '67 hoped to thrill the audience!

Talk of bringing Frank and Annie together again is overheard by Frank as he enters a party given for Buffalo Bill's show.

"Annie Get Your Gun"

Left: Buffalo Bill introduces himself to Miss Oakley. Below: The Wilson House proprietor makes arrangements for the shooting match between Frank and Annie.

Frank and Annie engage in a "lovers' quarrel."

Frank's jealousy of Annie's equal billing causes trouble for Buffalo Bill.

Prom Mood Set By

Mr. Darnell, principal of CFHS, seems to be "caught in the act" of taking a souvenir!

"Oh, no, not again!" exclaimed the members of the class of 1968 as they decorated for the Junior-Senior Prom given for the class of 1967. The prom, held in the Clifton Forge National Guard Armory, was justly called "Paradise Isle".

Amid the palm trees, the Gene Thomas Orchestra furnished the music for the tropical journey. The atmosphere seemed to please the dancing couples as they enjoyed the evenings festivities.

As always good things must end, so the Juniors and Seniors left the prom. With them they carried happy memories of the beautiful "Paradise Isle!"

"Everybody dance!" was the cry as the Gene Thomas orchestra supplied the music and the mood.

Theme. . . "Paradise Isle"

Juniors and Seniors wait in line for refreshments being served by the serving girls.

Programs and favors are presented to the couples as they enter the beautiful "Paradise Isle".

Seniors and Faculty

Typical senior boys at a typical senior banquet with a typical request, "Take my picture!"

Linda Cahoon displays her acting ability in a skit to entertain the faculty.

Mr. Keilholtz, music director, leads the faculty and seniors in the song "Yesterday."

Enjoy Senior Banquet

Gemmer Hall portrays Mr. Wolfenbarger as Larry Glover plays the tardy student in a skit.

Off to a start with an invocation by Mr. Darnell, principal, and a welcome by Wayne Humphries, class president, the seniors and faculty of CFHS began an evening designed to entertain the faculty. A group of seniors sang "This Ole School" which was followed by a toast to the faculty given by Joyce Shores. Two other toasts followed, one to the girls by Dan Adams and one to the boys by Susan Mason. Dinner was served, and a group of seniors sang "Edelweiss." At various times during the evening, Mr. Keilholtz, music director, led the faculty and seniors in songs such as "Yesterday" and "Over the Rainbow". Several seniors presented skits highlighting points of school life. The evening ended as everyone sang "Auld Lang Syne."

Seniors and faculty enjoy informal "chit chat" along with their meal.

Seniors Entertain Parents

Bobby Bradley and Larry Glover lead the recessional, and the joys of Class Night come to an end.

Gay McGuire and John Grimes read the class history.

Down on the farm the cash crop is TREES

There's one thing that's keeping them down on the tree Farm these days and that is a cash crop that needs no price supports, government help or other artificial stimulation. That cash crop is TREES. All over the nation, from Maine to Texas and from Florida to Oregon, the sign of the accredited tree farm is becoming a familiar symbol.

More than 50 million acres are now being cultivated the tree farm system, whereby cutting, seeding, harvesting, fire, & disease control are carried out according to tested, scientific forestry methods. Tree farmers, operating as private, tax-paying individuals, are helping to assure the increasing raw material needs of the nation's wood-using industries. These industries, in turn, provide our tree farmers with ready markets for America's fastest growing crop - TREES.
